

WHAT A NURSE SAYS

Some Advice Well to Follow.

One of the most skillful nurses in this country, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Berry of Hampton, N. H., a lady of the widest experience among diseases of all kinds, who has cheered many a sick room by her encouraging words, has sent a communication, which should be read by all. Her words are worthy of the greatest consideration on account of the high reputation she has as a nurse, and because of their great encouragement to all classes of sufferers. They are especially valuable for those whom the Grip has left weak and debilitated in nerve and body.

Ringling Words of Hope.

Through trouble and overwork I grew fearfully nervous, and was unable to get on from nervous prostration, until I became acquainted with Dr. Greene's Nervura. I am now so well and strong that every one who sees me is very much surprised. I have been able to do the whole world of women what Dr. Greene's Nervura has done for me, and to recommend all women to use this wonderful medicine.

—MRS. ELIZABETH A. BERRY, who has been ill, and when nursing my sister I gave her Dr. Greene's Nervura. When she was never felt better than since using it. I gave it also to a lady suffering from acute nervous prostration, who could not get help from any other physician. She is now well, strong, and really, and truly, a new woman. I have never seen it had not been for Dr. Greene's Nervura. I hear this wonderful medicine named and blessed everywhere, and I am glad to know that it is doing its great value, and truly call it a savior of us women.

MRS. MANTEL'S SANITY.

NYACK, Feb. 2.—The question of the sanity of Mrs. Harriette C. Mantels of South Nyack was still in the hands of the jury at a late hour to-night. The case opened on Friday morning. Her neighbors said that it was dangerous for her to be at large. Her relatives protested that she was sane. The jury was not yet judged insane. Mr. William Johnson testified that she saw Mrs. Mantels shake a knife at the railroad station agent. Mrs. Hiram Vanzandt, whose husband owns a house adjoining the cottage occupied by Mrs. Mantels, said that Mrs. Mantels would shake the shutters of her house all hours of the night and on one occasion she was seen to have banged the shutters of a second-story window with a hammer and throw them into the yard. She also heard Mrs. Mantels call out one night: "Oh, ye accursed churchmen! I'll give no money to build them up, but plenty to tear them down. Some day!"

James W. Blauvelt, a builder and one of the trustees of the South Nyack corporation, said Mrs. Mantels once told him that she wanted him to run for President of the United States, and that she often saw the ghosts of Garfield and Lincoln.

who took Mrs. Mantolis to jail, testified that on the way there she told him that a bone was in her stomach and that she was going to tell the doctor. She frequently had to hammer it in. Dr. J. J. O'Connell, who examined her, testified that in August, 1900, they examined Mrs. Mantolis and pronounced her insane. On the day of her arrest, he examined her and found that she had not improved.

Several witnesses were examined in behalf of the defense. They all testified that they could stand in her own behalf. Although she made a good witness, she impressed many present with the idea that she was not a very trustworthy person. The jury went out at 4 o'clock.

A House Wrecked by Dynamite.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—At Cote St. Louis, an outlying suburb of Montreal, last night, several frozen dynamite cartridges, which A. Dupre had placed on the stove to thaw out, exploded, completely wrecking the house. Dupre was terribly injured. His two little daughters, one an infant of 9 months, were fatally burned. A

A Collision in San Francisco Harbor.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—An extraordinary accident occurred in the harbor on Sunday night during a heavy rain storm, when the British ship Orissa dragged her anchor and crashed into the British ship Gowanbank. The watch on the latter shouted to the Orissa, but got no response, and in a moment came a terrific collision. The Orissa was thrown on her side and brought down the spars on the other vessel. It was a narrow escape from total wreck. It will cost $10,000 to repair the Orissa.

Col. Hernandez Shot.

CITY OF MEXICO, Mexico, Feb. 2.—Col. Hernandez, who was recently condemned to death by a military tribunal for having conspired with Garza, yesterday made an attempt to escape and was shot by a guard.

Marchall Notes.

W. S. Wyckoff, who made an enviable reputation as an explorer in the Eastern States some years ago, is an applicant for a passport to go to the West. He was accompanied by a party of men, and is expected to start with Garza, yesterday made an attempt to escape and was shot by a guard.
